STRAYED.—A bench tan shepherd pup, marked with white on neck and tip of nose. Finder please notify H. C. Moore, Frank.

Rev K. Kingston went to Macleod on Tuesday. He will be away about a week. During his absence, the usual services will be conducted in the Methodist church.

William Simpson, The Pass representative of the Lethbridge Herald, has just had a telephone installed in his house. When you have something worth reporting telephone 139.

A. Muller, general manager of the Canadian Coal Consolidated, left on Tuesday for Calgary to attend to business of the mine, and representatives of District 18. U. M. W. of A., for the purpose of signing an agreement for another two years.

At the police court, on Tuesday, before J. W. Gresham, J. P., Tony Nicolette was brought up on the charge that he did with a loaded revolver shoot at William Hewitson, at Passburg, with intent thereby to murder the said William Hewitson. Evidence for the prosecution was given by Corporal Bower, T. Duncan, D. Bisset, R. Young, A. Harrison, J. Redmond and W. Hewitson. The accused was committed for trial at the next assizes.

Medicines that aid nature are always most successful. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It loosens the cough; relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by dealers everywhere.

A fancy dress carnival was given at the rink here on Tuesday night. Those who appeared in fancy attire were: Mrs. Bond, Italian Woman; A. Macdonald, Nun; H. Pinkney, Lady with the Hobble Skirt; E. J. Blais, Happy Hooligan; A. Blais, Tamborine Man; E. Thomas, Fat Man; and H. Blais. The prize for best costume was won by Mrs. Bond, the prize for best girl was awarded to A. Macdonald while H. Pinkney received the prize for the best man. The prize for the boys' race went to E. Blais while the prize for the girls' race fell to the lot of B. Stone.

Are you frequently hoarse? Do you have that annoying tickling in your throat? Does your cough annoy you at night, and do you raise mucus in the morning? Do you want relief? If so, take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you will be pleased. Sold by dealers everywhere.

A LARGE AND WELL EQUIPPED MINE PLANT

Canadian Coal Consolidated, Ltd., Will Have One of the Best Plants in the West—Will Erect Steel Tipples, Build Coke Ovens, Add Large Wash House and Double Present Generating Plant

On Tuesday evening last a representative of this paper had the pleasure of being shown the entire plant of the Canadian Coal Consolidated, at Frank. Mr. A. Muller, the general manager of the company, accompanied us and we were greatly surprised at the magnitude of the plant as well as the neat and attractive appearance it presented.

To give anything like a full description of this immense plant would require a great deal more space than what is at our disposal but we cannot refrain from making a brief description of same.

The mechanical surface department of the Canadian Coal Consolidated, Limited, is very complete and has even more capacity than the actual needs of the mine require. There are eight boilers. Two of them (these are old Return Tubular Boilers) are allowed 85 pounds. They furnish steam for the hoisting machine. It is more convenient to use this machine, with steam at low pressure.

These generators also furnish steam to heat the Company's buildings. The electric light and power plant consists of the following apparatus: First, in the boiler room they have four individual units of water tube boilers of the Babcock & Wilcox type, each unit having a capacity of 300 horse power and a pressure of 160 pounds to the square inch, and along side these boilers they have a battery of Sterling water tube boilers which have a capacity of 500 H. P., making in all a total of 1700 actual horse power. We also found in the boiler room a very effective blower system which allows the forcing of the boilers to about 2500 horse power in the time of peak load.

On going into the engine room we found an up-to-date plant consisting of two large direct connected alternating current generators which are connected to Robb compound engines revolving at 150 revolutions per minute. These units have a combined electrical horsepower of 2500. There is also in this engine room a 200 K. W. generator especially designed to operate centrifugal pumps in the mine, and a unit to take care of the lights in the town of Frank when the large units are not in service. This plant is so arranged that it will operate all machinery of the Company such as hoists, fans, pumps and haulage.

F. V. Galway Leaves

F. V. Galway, head electrician for the Canadian Coal Consolidated, left on Monday with his wife and child for Isle of Wight. Mr. Galway, superintending the installation of the electric plant here during which time he often complained of pain in his hip and was many times advised to take a rest, but he kept constantly at his post until the work was completed. Then he decided to go to the hospital. The doctor examined his leg and it was found that it had a cancer which would necessitate the amputation of the left leg at the hip. This was indeed sad for a man who was so plucky as to stay with the job so long for the convenience of those for whom he worked. He has now gone home to attend the hospital and await the unpleasant result, much to the regret of the Canadian Coal Consolidated as well as numerous other friends.

The Company is in a position to furnish at least 1500 H. P. to outside concerns, at a very reasonable cost, for manufacturing and other purposes. They have an available water power which they intend to harness shortly and this will give them an additional 2000 horse power, and as in the case of the winter months this power is somewhat curtailed they can then easily resort to their surplus steam plant. This combined electrical steam plant was designed by the General Manager, Mr. A. Muller and was engineered by Mr. H. T. Lloyd of Spokane, Washington. All things considered, this is one of the best electrical power plants in the West.

Across the railway track and near the shaft there is a ventilating fan running at a high speed to carry air into the Subterranean workings 300 feet below the surface.

All the workshops and offices are steam heated as well as the wash house, and everything possible is done for the comfort and well being of the workmen. With this end in view it is the intention of the general manager to have erected in the near future a modern wash house with shower and other baths of up-to-date type. Mr. Muller also intends to add 100 feet to the present power house when an electric 500 K. W. Corlis engine will be installed and the present large generating plant will be duplicated. Fifty coke ovens of the Salvoy type will also be erected this summer. The gas from these ovens will be utilized in heating the boilers, while the tar will be used in making bricks. The economy of this company is remarkable, yet they attend to the comfort and convenience of their men to such an extent that the employees of the company have no cause to complain. As soon as the weather will permit, work will be commenced on the Company's new steel tipple which will be of the Venot type and which will be erected behind No 1 shaft. This tipple will be the first of its kind in the Pass and will have a capacity of 2500 tons of coal per day. In the near future another shaft will be sunk that will tap a seam of coal that is practically inexhaustible and that has hitherto been untouched.

The town of Frank is to be congratulated that they have such an enterprising Company in their midst, for we believe that the Frank mines of the Canadian Coal Consolidated, Limited are as well equipped as any mines in the West.

Happenings in and Around Bellevue

Miss E. Miller visited Cowley on Friday.

T. M. Burnett and D. C. MacKenzie visited Pincher Creek on Tuesday.

H. Dean, formerly outside foreman at the mines here, returned to town from Lethbridge on Thursday.

Mr. Morgan, provincial school inspector, was in town on Thursday and confirmed the building of a new school.

The arrivals from England this week are Messrs G. and E. Copeland, H. Holroyd, senior; H. Holroyd, junior.

The funeral of the late Miss Lillian Knowles took place on Tuesday of last week at Passburg and was attended by a large number from Bellevue.

A meeting of the school board will be held on Friday evening for the purpose of passing bye-laws of the village. A full report will be given in our next weeks issue.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are safe, sure and reliable, and have been praised by thousands of women who have been restored to health through their gentle aid and curative properties. Sold by dealers everywhere.

News of World-Wide Interest From the Canadian Metropolis

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Montreal, March 1. - The reciprocity controversy is now in full swing through the land. From the Atlantic to the Pacific it is the chief topic of discussion, not only to the north but to the south of the international border, and the question has even invaded the legislative halls of Great Britain. No doubt the storm will continue to rage around this bone of contention for some weeks yet, and not until the matter is decided by the Canadian Parliament and the American Congress one way or the other will it let up. Deputations are heading for Ottawa to oppose the agreement while those who agree are very little heard from.

The farmers of Canada are not worried because the crops in certain sections of the Northwest were not up to the mark last year, if the extent of their purchases of farming implements can be taken as a guide.

The Masonic Grand Lodge of the Province of Quebec is holding its annual session here and the opportunity has been seized to make a formal disavowal of any connection with the Grand Lodge of the Orient, the French organization, whose members in this city, members of Emancipation Lodge, are just getting settled down after a great stir which commenced last summer prior to the Eucharistic Congress and lasted for several months. Antagonism to the Roman Catholic Church is a specialty of the French organization while in the Province is the case with the English Free Masonry. They do not want to be mixed up with such a crowd and do not hesitate to say so. In the meantime the Roman Catholic Church authorities make no distinction.

Medical jurisprudence was distinctly at loggerheads this week in the trial of the claim for damages in the Superior Court and it was evident that medical men, like all other professions, are influenced by the commercial angle from which they look at a subject.
Neuresthenia was the trouble from which the victim was supposed to be suffering and one side claimed that it was not that disease at all while the plaintiff's argument was all in that direction. Paul Dinowertz was injured in the Spanish River wreck on the Canadian Pacific about a year ago and the claim he put in totalled up to about $14,000 while the company was willing to settle for $1,600.

There was much learned evidence on the nature of the alleged disease and the upshot that judge and jury were practically at sea as to just what neuresthenia meant and what it was likely to do to a man when he was not looking. Ultimately the claimant was awarded $3,500 and costs and while he got more than the railway offered there is no doubt it paid the company to fight rather than pay the full amount demanded. Consequently both sides won.

D. Lorne McGibbon, one of the younger and most recent acquisitions to the ranks of those who have to count their fortunes not lower than in seven figures, only a few days ago bought two of the biggest boot and shoe plants in the country for the purpose of running them under one management and specializing in the production of the factories. He is said to have put up a matter of four millions in connection with the deal.

Points For Mothers

We mothers get so tired, says Frances Ingersoll in a recent article. We wonder if life is all to be like this, if we must always worry over Johnny's shoes, or father's coat, or the winter's coat, or where the rest money is coming from—until the wrinkles and toll worn hands and care furrows turn so much as we when we are tired. Life seems so arduous while while we look upon those things we meant to do and to be and we think how far we have "fallen" in the realization. Life to us seems much a scold thing beside the "other woman's."

But when twilight comes, when the restful hours are still, when mischievous little hands are quiet, when baby lies drowsily under "dood night, mummy," as little arms slip from under our neck—then, then we know that the other woman whose life is all ease and silken luxury would give it all for just one such twilight hour, would give all her precious jewels for just one such feeling encircling baby arms about her neck, and we know we are rich beyond compare.

And we think of the time when the lads and lassies will grow, because of us, good men and women, God willing. Then we know, too, that life can hold no greater joy, no greater opportunities, than are ours.

As we put away the little muddy shoes and fold up the mused little garments the care and worry of the day are all forgot, and we lie down in peace, thanking God for the humble toil and knowing that will bear such golden harvest on the "by and by."

Children's Clothing.

Children's clothes are always a problem for the mother, but even the baby may profit by the suggestions here given. For a baby or her imperial nappies for a few days may be made by attaching an extra piece of material, to be 6 inches, to the center back of any plain dress or slip. Attach by means of buttons and buttonholes. This band is adjusted after putting on the dress, which it keeps down over the underclothes and stockings while the baby is enjoying himself on the floor.

In sewing the vents of children's dresses which usually receive the hardest of wear the continuous placket is the best to use. This is a strip of material cut on a lengthwise thread and sewed to the edges of the placket in a straight seam. The seam is folded in the middle, and the outer edge is then hemmed in position. The band is turned back on the side of the placket, overlapping the outside so as to form a facing. On the under side it forms a small extension flap.

Mitten time is here. Look up your scraps of velvet, plush or cloth to keep the children's hands warm in the winter. To secure a pattern have the child place his hand on a piece of paper, fingers together and thumb out, and draw around it. Round out the upper edge so as to allow plenty of room. Cut two sections for each hand and bind the wrist openings with silk tape.

Game For Children.

This is but a variation of the old game of hickory, dickory, dock, but it will amuse the children for an hour and teach them to count at the same time.

Take a piece of thin board or heavy cardboard about twenty inches square. On it draw a circle eighteen inches in diameter and divide it into twelve sections, numbering them like the hours of a clock. Take a small top from half a spool and spin it in the center of the circle. The number of the section in which the top stops indicates the amount scored by the player. Any score from 50 to 200 may be decided on, and the player who first reaches this amount has won the game.

A Nursery Note.

"Toddler" is an outcast and a mischievous one. To keep him amused, says an ingenious mother, I have presented him with a piece of chalk with which he has delighted in the means of his mouth and have made a dado on the wall with brown paper. Three smooth new sheets cut next to nothing, but laid in place, and the child may form a wide space on which the boy can develop his artistic faculty. En passant, he is amused and I am at liberty, the price of a few sheets being from fresh paper now and again.

Little "Pies" For Little People.

Use split milk crackers for crust. On each part spread a thin layer of any other filling. Add a meringue if desired and brown in the oven or use whipped cream. For "custard pie" spread "custard" with meringue and brown. With a sharp knife mark in quarters. And one child may have a whole pie or even two or three of them.—Women's Home Companion.

Cold Water For Children.

Give children plain cold water to drink. It is better than any other liquid, constant milk or lemonade. A small tumbler of pure water will not hurt a child at any time.

MARRIED TO A PURIST.

Wiggles and Wife as Overboard by the Dubuies.

Mrs. Wiggles has the very great misfortune to be married to a purist, and what she has to endure, so her neighbors say, passes all belief. For instance, here is a conversation she has had overheard by the Dubuies, who live next door, one morning last week.

"Henry," called Mrs. Wiggles from upstairs, addressing Mr. Wiggles, who had got up early to start the furnace, "what's the thermometer this morning?"

"Same as usual, my dear," Mr. Wiggles replied, calling up through the flue. "It is a little instrument made of metal, glass and mercury designed to show degrees of heat and cold. It is a simple and inexpensive little contrivance, and no home should be without one."

"I mean what does it say?" returned Mrs. Wiggles, with an expression of contentment which, not having been seen, can only be imagined.

"It does not say what you love," replied Mr. Wiggles, brushing some soot out of his locks. "Up to this point nobody has thought to invent a talk-thermometer, though I suppose that it would be possible by means of a photographic attachment operated by a delicately adjusted device of some sort to get the results which you seem to believe are already attained."

"Oh, you know what I mean!" retorted Mrs. Wiggles, somewhat angrily. "Where is the thermometer, then, if you are going to be so very, very particular?"

"It is just where we left it last night, dear heart," returned Wiggles, "screwed on to the left hand jamb of the front door. I fancy that if it had not been screwed on it would have disappeared long ago. Where did you think it was?"

"Has it risen or fallen?" demanded the lady.

"Not that I know of," said Wiggles. "If it had risen I think we should have seen the old screw holes in the place where it had been, and as for falling, I know it hasn't done that, because thermometers are rather fragile things, and if it had fallen at any time there would have been signs of fracture at least, even if the whole thing had not been shattered to pieces. Don't worry about it anyhow. I fastened on the door, and you can feel with four screws can hardly come loose—that is, not at all of them."

"Henry Wiggles," roared the lady's voice, growing louder and louder, "having about it certain qualities of sharpness, 'do you mean to tell me where the mercury stands or not?'"

"Of course I do, my dear," replied Wiggles, lighting the fire at last. "It stands in the little glass tube that runs from the bulb at the base of the thermometer to the top. Now, where did you suppose it stood—on its head?"

Here the conversation stopped.

Later on, when the door opened, meeting Wiggles with his head banded upon his way to catch the trolley, smiled sweetly.

"What a beautiful day," said she archly. "Has Mrs. Wiggles been taking the broomstick to you that you have the head banded up?"

"No, my dear," said Wiggles coldly. "We do not use brooms in my household. We use vacuum cleaners."

"Well, I guess they are more appropriate," said Mrs. Dubuies, smiling. "I started in very warm this morning. 'You bet it did,' said Wiggles as he moved on. 'Some cloudy too,'—Harper's Weekly.

Combs should not be washed with water. This is apt to split the teeth. For either comb is a good thing, keep for cleaning them. After using the brush take a damp cloth and wipe between each tooth with this.

Lady's Mirror

Some people show a strange indifference and lack of care for the nose, which has been correctly termed the drawing room of the lungs, for in this drawing room many visitors are ushered, some sweet and fresh and clean and others sordid and bedraggled, leaving their dusty footprints clogged with germs behind them.

It would be an untidy housekeeper who neglected the drawing room. Let the rest of her house be ever so immaculate, if dirt is allowed to accumulate there the whole house will feel its ill effects.

But how many people ever think of spraying the nose? It is astonishing when one considers what harm such careless neglect works that any person should fail to do this.

Specialists will tell you that it is absolutely essential to good health that the nose should be kept clean. Few noses are really clean.

The use of a pocket handkerchief is about all the care the average person gives the nose. They do not know that they have done their duty by it. They could not sleep if they had forgotten to brush their teeth.

Many people do not realize the absolute necessity for cleanliness in the nose, but once they comprehend it is an easy matter to purchase an atomizer from a drug store, then consult a doctor and see that the nose is daily washed out. If one does not care to go to a physician for a regular prescription one can get a small glass nose douche shaped like a duck and use warm water with a solution of salt in it.

To Avoid Winter Colds.

Air baths are the latest prescription for the seeker after health. These are positively recommended as a magic preventive for avoiding winter colds. At first they may seem too difficult of accomplishment, but if one will only try one will see how astonishing the results are.

And the beauty of this magic air bath is that it is simplicity itself. There is no cumbersome apparatus, no tiresome visits of the masseuse, no pounding and punching of an inoffensive body. One merely takes the still and cool gentle breeze to blow upon the body.

One need only expose the skin, so the enthusiasts say, to the wind for ten or twenty minutes, a half hour or an hour night and morning to annihilate the horrid cold germs which are everywhere ready to seize upon one who gets a chill and so lays herself open to attack.

Hence the danger of drafts and wet feet. Our usual habits give the skin no opportunity of hardening itself. If one would indulge in the beneficial air bath one must spend twenty minutes before retiring without one's clothing. Then in the morning bathe and do up the hair before covering the skin with the day's wardrobe. These measures alone constitute an effective air bath and will lessen the sensibility of the skin and liability to cold in a few days' time.

A more elaborate way for taking the air bath is recommended by a noted physician. Select the sunniest room in the house. If the window is overlooked by neighboring houses place a low screen before it. Then undress, wrap yourself in a sheet and blanket and lie on the floor in the sunshine.

The Beauty Waltz.

You have heard of the old English custom of waltzing with pennies carried on the head? Try that in the privacy of your own room. Remove corsets and shoes, then, putting a coin on a smooth head and undressing, glide to its measures. Practice this till you know how smoothly you must be gliding by the cessation of the necessity to stoop and pick up your penny. The gain in health that follows the steady practice of these "stunts" will equal the gain in grace.

An excellent thing it is in a loose, freely flowing light-weight garment to waltz with the arms raised, hands held over the head, with the finger tips lightly touching. If you have any desire of making the best of themselves ask them to meet with you once a week. Banish all persons not in the secret. Remove restrictive garments, including shoes. Let one of the number play for three minutes, while the rest do the waltzing as described. When a second member takes the place the dance for a change may be done with hands locked behind the head and waltzing in the room in that pose. Do the last dance with the upstretched arms and finger tips lightly touching.

Your Comb.

Combs should not be washed with water. This is apt to split the teeth. For either comb is a good thing, keep for cleaning them. After using the brush take a damp cloth and wipe between each tooth with this.

Pains That Make Misery.

A Talk With Our Lady Readers.

Have you ever noticed how miserable and unhappy the little pains and aching muscles, aching joints, aching, chapped hands, a nasty burn, a sore foot, a poisoned finger—none of these little pains or ailments ever likely to cause serious trouble, which come to every woman—and man, too—and are so sufficient, to take the edge of one's temper and give one a "grouch."

Zam-Buk is just the thing at such times. As soon as you put it on to a sore, a cut, a burn, or any skin injury, it stops the pain, and the smarting and starts up healing. Don't make the mistake that because Zam-Buk is so widely used by medical men, by nurses, and for serious skin diseases and accidents, that it is only for serious cases. Keep it handy and use it immediately you get some trivial injury or have some little sore.

Mrs. Chas. H. Barrett, Harmony Road, Truro, N.S., says: "I had an ingrowing toe nail, which caused me acute agony. Sometimes the pain was so severe I could not sleep. It became so bad that I feared blood-poisoning had set in. I was advised to try Zam-Buk. I did so, and in a few days it was much easier, and I continued the treatment. The little 'Zam-Buk' ointment cured me, and I have no more trouble with it. We always keep Zam-Buk in our medicine chests, and I would recommend it to every housewife."

Zam-Buk is just the thing, too, for the little skin troubles which are so common, and which are everywhere at a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

One day, after he had asked his mother several million questions, she said to him: "Jimmy, what are you asking questions for? You drive me frantic. Don't you know that curiosity killed the cat? You are a little bit curious, and for a long time was silent. At last he went to his mother and asked: 'Ma, what did that cat want to know?'"—Horton County (Kan.) Headlight.

As Good as Having a Doctor in the House

That is what thousands of mothers say of their Own Tablets. These Tablets promptly and surely cure all the minor ills of babyhood and childhood. They are the only medicine absolutely safe—they have never been known to harm the youngest baby—they are good for babies of all ages. Concerning them, Mrs. Wm. Higgins, of the Albany, N.Y., writes: "I have used Without Baby's Own Tablets in the house as long as my children are old enough to require medical attention and are as good as having a doctor in the house. I have used them to cure my children of many ailments. I am always glad to recommend them to my mother-in-law, and to all the mothers of my friends. They are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

When Fenelon was minister to Louis XIV., his majesty was much troubled by one Sunday, instead of the usual crowded congregation, only himself and a priest were present. The priest said: "The king, 'I caused it to be given out,' replied the prelate, 'that you should not attend chapel today, that you might see who it was that came here to worship God, and who to flatter the king.'"

The new maid seemed eminently satisfactory, but the mistress of the house thought a few words of advice would be just as well. "And I expect you to be very reticent about what you hear when you are waiting at table." "Certainly, madam, certainly," replied the new maid, "then her face lit up with an innocent curiosity. 'May I ask, madam, if I will be much to be reticent about?'"

THE PATIENT BRAIN.

A tireless worker so long as supplied with rich, red blood.

The brain is one of the most patient and industrious organs of the body. It can endure almost any amount of work, and it is sensitive and will not break down. It responds to the lash at first, but if the lash is laid on too hard it balks.

The brain insists on having plenty of good, red blood wherewith to renew its waste and from which to manufacture the nerve force supplied to the whole body.

Nervous trouble is generally brain trouble, and no suffering is to be compared to mental suffering, with its attendant dread, suspicion and melancholy.

One-fifth of the blood in the human body is consumed by the brain, and make the blood rich and red by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and you will overcome nervous trouble.

There is no other way. Stimulants are false hope. Narcotics deaden and destroy the nervous system. They are followed by a condition which is worse than the first.

When a third nerve and the nervous system will adjust itself. Headaches will disappear. Irritability will go, sleep will come, and the nervous system and despondency will give place to new hope and courage, new vigor and energy.

Mrs. Geo. Fuller, Lakeland, Man., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cured me of nervous trouble, and I am no longer troubled with twitching of the nerves in the arms and legs."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food will cure you of such troubles as nervous trouble as prostration and paralysis. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. Sent by mail. Dr. Edmondson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

SNAPPED A BURSTING BOMB.

Luck of a Photographer In Getting a Wonderful Picture.

One of the most remarkable photographs ever obtained was that of the actual exploding of the bomb which was thrown at the King and Queen of Spain on the occasion of their wedding's anniversary.

It was secured by an operator for one of the largest British firms of press photographers, and according to the London Strand Magazine, proved a veritable gold mine, appearing in close on 3,000 publications.

The photograph was secured more or less by a piece of good luck. The operator was on a stand with his camera in the place allotted to him by the police, waiting for the procession to appear. The camera was placed facing down the street up which the procession was to come.

From the moment it came in sight until the royal carriage was within about thirty yards of him the operator secured three pictures. He then realized that he was in a hole and saw a good picture of the King and Queen in their carriage, which was about ten yards from him.

At the instant that the operator pressed the ball and exposed a plate the bomb exploded. It became a good picture of the King and Queen in their carriage, which was about ten yards from him.

Anyone luckless enough to fall in that storm of rushing humanity was instantly trampled to death, and several died. Some thirty people in all were killed on that occasion, of which the Anglo-Norman Courier instantly trumpeted to death, and that followed the explosion. It is a terrible picture, and all the plates in the operator's camera were broken with the exception of the last one he exposed. The explosion was the actual scene at the moment of the explosion.

"The Hermit Peen."

The Marquis of Clanricarde has passed his seventy-eighth birthday. He descends, as do one or two other Irish peers, from the kings of old Ireland. Chiefs of Connaught, who, in the dim and far-off days before the Anglo-Norman Conquest, were king, state in a rough and ready way, says Modern Society. The present Duke is the second in his line of his creation, and fifteenth earl.

Lord Clanricarde is a great judge of horses, and is a very keen sportsman. He has been in terrific hot water with his Irish tenants, and has, seemingly, been obliged to resign his title of the Albany—where he lives a hermit life with his beloved canvases and porcelain.

One most beautiful possession—which is neither a painting nor a statue—is a magnificent Cinquecento jewel, which he inherited from his father. It is a diamond and a large plaque known as the "Diamond Sword." Lord Clanricarde has generously lent this treasure to the National Museum, where it never fails to attract attention. Indeed, we believe that Sir Julius Arnold, himself, is to be one of the three great Cinquecento jewels in the world.

Lord Clanricarde adopts the orthodox of Clanricarde, asserting that the name was so spelt by eleven of his predecessors, but the Peerage insist on their way of spelling the word.

From Butcher's Counter to Pulpit.

For thirty-eight years Rev. William Cuff, the famous pastor of the Shoreditch Tabernacle, has butted amongst the butchers of the East of London. He began life as a butcher, but, to quote his own words, "Early in my career I abandoned the carving of carcasses for the curing of souls."

And few men have done more to alleviate the distress and bring sunshine into the lives of the masses in the East-End. His work has been full of the most heroic and amazing deeds. He not only preaches to the people, but helps to feed them, and on one occasion he would assist his wife in clothing them. "So I took a little child," he says, "and measured out the food I had in a bowl of soup. 'What do you think of that?' I said to the mother of the child. 'Well, I suppose you've got best part of it,' he replied; 'but you've gone and made a boy of it!'"

Preferred the Other Side.

Robert Louis Stevenson and Edmund Gosse were promening in Edinburgh one afternoon when they met a stalwart beggar, whom Gosse refused to aid. Stevenson, however, gave him a shilling and a piece of soap. The man pocketed the coin, forebore to thank his benefactor, but, when his eyes on Gosse, said in a loud voice: "And what is the other little gentleman going to give me?"

"In future," said Stevenson as they strode on, "I shall be 'the other little gentleman'."—London News.

Yeggmen.

A "yegg" or "yeggman" might be defined as a cross between a tramp and a burglar. "Yeggmen" travel about the country always in pairs or in groups, and are generally confederated with the gypsies in the smaller towns. Eventually "yeggmen" are likely to come to grief through the loss of a leg or an arm, when they take to begging, and become known as "x-yeggmen."

Power of the Will.

"I've just been reading about the power of the will. It's a wonderful thing."

"Yes; a millionaire friend of mine told me that he made six children and seventeen grandchildren good."

For the Children

Flying Aerials and Aeroplanes.

Modern inventors have been fairly successful with the aeroplane, but for a long time two little animals have been making a name for themselves in the flying world. The flying squirrel and the flying fish sail through the air and rise and fall on an aeroplane of nature's invention.

Our common flying squirrel, with its thin, winglike membrane stretched tightly between the extended legs, is a typical aeroplane. There is a speaking of such a squirrel says: "It sprang from a maple at a height of twenty-eight and one-half feet from the ground and landed easily and lightly on the ground at the foot of another tree fifty and one-half feet away. Its flight was not a regular descent. It varied from a straight line both horizontally and vertically. It skimmed much like a hawk, and part of its flight was nearly horizontal. It was in a series of six inches to a foot in diameter between the beginning and the ending of its flight, and these it skimmed partly round and partly straight, and thinner wings. It did not, as I could perceive, touch a single twig." Other observers have seen crowds of these little creatures in similar sportive gambols which seem to have no other object than playfulness or the mere pleasure of flight.—St. Nicholas.

A Thanksgiving Game.

A good game to play Thanksgiving evening is called "the wand passes." One of the company is sent from the room. Another, who is in league with the first, promises that when he holds the wand, which may be a cane or a broom, over some member of the company the said member will be able to tell over whom. The door must be left open. The confederates expect that this is in order not to interrupt the current of electricity between them.

The magic wand allows the company to chat for five minutes after the confederate has been sent away. Suddenly breaks in upon the conversation, waving the wand and saying in a sepulchral tone, "The wand passes." The exile answers from the next room very solemnly, "Let it pass." Again comes the announcement, "The wand passes," and again the answer, "Let it pass." The third time the possessor of the wand holds it over some head and inquires, "The wand rests over whom?"

Then is the exile promptly to answer, "Over So-and-so," naming the right person. The trick is accomplished by having it arranged that the confederate who is sent out of the room shall hold the wand over the person who spoke last before the announcement, "The wand passes." All the confederates are then to be able to do is to distinguish the voices of the company.

Thanksgiving Day.

Over the river and through the wood To grandfather's house we go. The children all are glad to go To carry the sleigh Through the white and drifted snow.

Over the river and through the wood— Oh, over the wind and snow! It stings the toes And makes the nose As over the ground we go.

Over the river and through the wood— To have a first play, Hear the bells ring "Ting-a-ling-ding!" Hurrah for Thanksgiving day!

Over the river and through the wood— Trot fast, my dapple gray! Spring o'er the ground Like a hunting hound For this is Thanksgiving day.

Over the river and through the wood— And straight through the barnyard As we seem to go! It is so hard to wait! It is so hard to wait!

Over the river and through the wood— Now grandmother's cap I spy! How the pumpkin pie Is the pudding done! Hurrah for the pumpkin pie!

A Shipload of Toys.

Hundreds of tons of toys, dolls and railroad cars, jumping jacks and automobiles and flying machines came into Philadelphia the other day on the steamer Dortmund. The steamer came from Hamburg, Germany, and carried no freight except toys. This is the first of many such cargoes that will be brought across the ocean before Christmas for the boys and girls of America.

The Smallest Island.

The smallest island in the world is the rock on which stands the Edgemoor light-house.

Coleman Notes

Bernard Boolster was up from Pincher Creek on Sunday last.

J. B. Nicklin came up from Lethbridge on Monday on a visit to friends.

W. Simpson and Miss M. Simpson, of Frank, attended the hockey match here on Saturday night.

George C. Egg, local manager for the International Correspondence Schools, at Fernie, B. C., was in town last week end.

A resident of Outville footed the distance from Blairmore to Coleman on Friday last in the remarkable time of three hours and nineteen minutes. Not so bad for a four mile walk.

Clark's pictures are attracting unusually large audiences here, and the opera house is crowded two and three nights a week. Saturday night's films were excellent, and the two-piece orchestra added no small part to the enjoyment of the show.

Coleman played Lethbridge hockeyites on Saturday night and won by a score of 8-2. Spence Lewis from Blairmore and J. A. McLeod from Frank played for Coleman and did splendid work. H. Gate was on the gate.

There will be a scrubbing party in Coleman on Saturday next. Ladies will please remember the hours—5 a.m. to 12 p.m.—and be sure not to forget their brushes, sponges and shovels. Place of meeting Coleman Miner office. All ladies who are aware of the necessity and importance of the scheme are invited to attend without fail. Type pie will be served at intervals.

Baptist Church Report

The following which was handed in by Alex. McLean, was received too late for last issue.

The annual meeting of the Central Baptist church was held on Wednesday evening, February 15, and was attended by a large number of the members of the church and congregation. The chair was occupied by the pastor, Rev. J. F. Hunter.

Reports were read of an encouraging character of the different departments of church work. A. McLeod, church secretary retiring, gave a report of the membership, which showed an increase of 75 per cent for the year. The present membership is now forty-two, eighteen of whom had joined the church during the year. A. E. Cheshire, treasurer, dealt with the finances. The church had raised $1,124.90 towards pastor's salary and local expenses. This amount did not include $400.00 that had been raised toward the reduction of the church debt, the collecting and reasonableness of which was undertaken by two of the ladies of the church, Mesdames J. Paden and F. M. Pinkney. The debt against the church property is now only $600.00 and an arrangement has been made with the bank to gradually reduce it and wipe it out.

The report of the Ladies Mission guild was given by Miss A. Smith, which showed progress and increased membership and contributions. The Ladies' Auxiliary had no special report but were holding their meetings as usual and continued to be an effective working force in the church.

The Sunday school report showed that attendance increased as the months passed. This department had been started during during the year and was very promising. The election of officers for the year resulted as follows: Secretary, J. Hamer; Treasurer, A. E. Cheshire; Board of Deacons, J. J. Thomas, F. M. Pinkney and J. Hamer. Mr. Page accepted the duties as organist in place of Arthur Cheshire. A short programme, musical and otherwise was rendered. After refreshments were served a pleasant evening was brought to a close.

A poem and some interesting items are crowded out of this issue.

BLAIRMORE IS A TOWN OF GREAT RESOURCES AND GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES

Unusual Activity Prevails In the "Commercial Centre of The Pass"—More Buildings Will Be Erected—Business Places Will Be Increased—More Manufacturers Will Establish Businesses Here

GRAND OPENINGS FOR MORE INDUSTRIES

Blairmore Has Raw Material for Sash and Door Factory, Iron Works, Pulp and Paper Mills Etc. and Has the Finest Townsite in The Pass—Room for Many More Desirable Citizens

Spring is fast approaching and with it there already seems to be more than usual activity around Blairmore. Many are preparing to build, some are about to enlarge their business and others are getting things in readiness for new industries which are about to be established here and about which we shall have more to say shortly.

We all know about the remarkable strides of progress which struck this town the year before last and which have prevailed right up to the present time. It can be truly said that no town up to three times its size in Alberta has experienced the prosperity that Blairmore has enjoyed during the past eighteen months. By the present general appearance of things around this busy town the prosperity which will attend Blairmore during 1911 will even far exceed that of the previous year.

The great importance of "The Commercial Centre of The Pass" is quickly becoming more and more realized and the splendid products of our several large manufacturing concerns are helping considerably to establish this fact.

There is still room for many more industries such as steam laundry, sash and door factory, iron works, pulp mills. Blairmore has the raw material for the above. Blairmore is the centre of this district, has the best townsite in The Pass, and therefore affords splendid sites for those as well as many other good industries. There is also ample room for several more thousand desirable home seekers, and we extend an invitation to those who desire to locate in the best town in this district and live amongst some of the most enterprising, most industrious and best people on earth, to become citizens of the flourishing town of Blairmore.

Fire in the Lille Hotel

A fire occurred at the Lille hotel on Wednesday morning which would have had serious results had not prompt measures been taken. All the rooms were filled with dense smoke, and bartender Batt, to whom great credit is due, noticing that the building was in imminent danger, at once rang the fire alarm bell which caused a hurried rush of the manager and boarders to the scene, who took immediate action to extinguish the fire, and fortunately was soon got under control before much damage was done.
